

Special Location for this Event: Mather Mansion Room 113

Friday, November 22nd 3:30-5:00pm

Join faculty and students for a lecture by Dr. Andrew Slifkin from the Department of Psychology at Cleveland State University on the importance of motor control to psychology, neuroscience, and daily living.

